About Jami:

Jami Schwartz, Community Program Manager @ Kabbage

Jami has been with Kabbage since October of 2015. Her role at Kabbage is to educate small businesses and small business community advisors; including Chambers of Commerce, SBA, SBDC, and Score, across the country about financing options and the benefits of online lending.

Before Kabbage, she worked at Intuit in both Boston and San Francisco. At Intuit, Jami led customer community programs both online and offline that grew from 50 person user groups to a 600 customer attended user event. Jami's background is both in finance and marketing. She spent the early part of her career at a securities lending firm in Boston followed by back-to-back SaaS startups both in ecommerce and B2B.

She holds an undergrad degree in finance from University of Pittsburgh and an MBA from Boston University in marketing and international finance.
